The SocialChorus platform is a single point of publishing where field operations managers can set up proper compliance and safety content by position and area, with required workplace code of conduct tests or daily safety tip confirmations. Moreover, an insights feature allows you to measure your content's impact to improve communications continuously.

Make your energy field operators connected, safe, and compliant.

Common Challenges

Difficult to confirm workers understand safety procedures

Inefficient shift schedule management

Local managers cannot get information out quickly

SocialChorus Solutions

AUTOMATE CRITICAL COMMUNICATIONS

One click of a button lets you reach employees on their preferred method—mobile app, digital signage, or integrated with other platforms like intranets.

CONFIRM COMPLIANCE

Ensure remote workers receive critical updates and confirm receipt without having to track down each employee.

MEASURE THE IMPACT

Know who received your communications, and track compliance in real time.

A REAL-WORLD EXAMPLE

SocialChorus Helps Large Oil & Gas Company Stay Compliant and Reduce Risk

One of the world's largest well completion companies in North America had to navigate through stringent compliance requirements. Committed to a high level of safety, teams of employees on its drilling rigs and wells were required to sign off—every day—on the “safety tip of the day.”

Managers collected signatures manually, and each one was processed individually, sometimes by mail or fax. The company was in need of a modern, streamlined compliance tool.

Using the SocialChorus platform and mobile app, team members could sign off on compliance documents in real time and set up automatic notifications to leadership.

This new approach saved valuable time, allowed for a more streamlined and efficient workflow, and provided visibility into reporting and analytics. Most importantly, the company decreased its liability and increased safety.
